I want the authorities to check up how much computer they use the individual teacher at each class. I really hope next year they have less screen time with the new teacher. This school system will raise screen time addiction from very early childhood I can't express how unhappy I am I put max 1h screen time for my kids at home for a reason I don't want the teacher to put him front of the computer avd show how to Google things. 44	This survey is lacking an open ended question the end. I would like to express that I am over the moon happy about everything going on a █████ this year. Teachers and admin are amazing! I'm disappointed in the Division and this survey is an example of this. I do not feel the results from these surveys are really taken into consideration. I feel the positive responses are highlighted at a high level and that is it. By not having an open ended question, this shows the division is not truly interested in hearing about the challenges and or opportunities parents want to share. There are many softwares available that can organize open-ended responses by sentiment so lack of time/resources should not be an excuse for no open ended questions..	4/15/2021 10:51 AM

102	I like the fact that they try to stay on top of the needs of students needs for the future. And try to keep them on top of the tech world. I am a graduate of [REDACTED] from the early years of school opening. And it was a great experience then as it is now. And we are talking 30 plus years. Well done	4/6/2021 12:30 PM

110	Could the emails written stop being absolutely impersonal, lawyer approved, horrors? I want to communicate with humans, not automatons. And reduce meaningless communication, an email a day keeps parents from bothering to read any of the emails. Too much information has an identical outcome to no information.	4/6/2021 11:14 AM
